Codebook for Do Male and Female Legislators have Different Twitter Communication Styles?

Dan Butler – Washington University of St. Louis – daniel.butler@wustl.edu
Thad Kousser – University of California, San Diego – tkousser@ucsd.edu
Stan Oklobdzija – University of California, Riverside – stano@ucr.edu

March 21, 2022

Codebook for Lower_House_Tweeting_Full with Ideal Points.dta

Variable	Variable Definition	Value Labels	Source has_handle	Does the legislator have a Twitter handle	Yes=1, No=0
count	How many times has the legislator tweeted?
count_tobit	How many times has the legislator tweeted? (NAs coded as 0)
fem_dum	Dummy variable if the legislator is female.	Female=1, Not female=0 dem_dum	Dummy variable if the legislator is a Democrat	Democrat=1, Not Democrat=0 state	State	Name of State sentiment_total	Pct of positive tweets sent by a legislator.
womens_issues	Pct. of tweets about education or health care.
education	Pct. of tweets about education.
health_care	Pct. of tweets about health care.
np_score	Shor-McCarty NPAT Score		Shor (2020) ideology_total	Ideology based on proportion of liberal or conservative tweets.	Ideological score scaled between -1 and 1, with positive numbers indicating more conservative tweets.
BlackorLatino_legislator	Dummy variable indicating if legislator is Black or Latinx.	Black or Latinx=1, Other races=0.
squire	Squire Index of legislative professionalism for the chamber.		Squire (2017)
years_since_elected	Years since legislator was elected.

References

Shor, Boris, 2020, "Aggregate State Legislator Shor-McCarty Ideology Data, July 2020 update", https://doi.org/10.7910/DVN/AP54NE, Harvard Dataverse, V1, UNF:6:PPNnE2bgMV3PZ8nP1fJtxg== [fileUNF]]

Squire, Peverill. 2017. "A Squire Index Update." State Politics and Policy Quarterly. 17 (4): 361-371.